

RESTAURANTS + BARS		ENTERTAINMENT	ARTS	SOCIETY	CITY GUIDE	EVENTS	SUBSCRIBE
CITY LIFE	FASHION + BEAUTY	REAL ESTATE	HOME + DESIGN	INNOVATION	TRAVEL	VIDEO	CM EVENTS

Home » City Life

DOWNTOWN DEVELOPMENT

Three proposed towers near Waller Creek could be Austin's tallest buildings

By Shelton Green, KVUE News 5.4.13 | 10:00 am

Courtesy of KVUE.com

KVUE – Austin's skyline continues to change over time as buildings get larger and taller over the years.

The proposed Waller Center could be a downtown game changer.

Local developers with the Sutton Company released an architect’s renderings Thursday of what three towers called the Waller Center could look like.

Wally Scott with the Sutton Company told KVUE News that designers will have more than 1 million square feet to work with on 2.9 acres off of Cesar Chavez and Rainey Street across the street from Iron Works BBQ.

That could mean more than 60-stories in one of the towers which will be a mixture of retail, office and residential space.

Scott says the artist renderings are not what the final project will look like. That he says will depend on who moves in and how much space they need.

The Waller Center will be an addition to the multi-million dollar Waller Creek improvement project.

Scott says once the Waller Center is completed it will remind visitors of the Riverwalk in San Antonio.

With city approval construction could begin in mid 2014 and take a year and a half to complete.

Read the full story on KVUE.com.

Read These Next

7.9.16

Austin restaurant goodbyes dominate this week's most popular stories

7.7.16

Texas boasts 3 of America's friendliest cities — and one of the rudest

Comments

LATEST

TRENDING

▫ This is what discerning travelers love about Austin

- Texas director comes home with big dreams for first feature film
- Here's where Austin home sales are really heating up
- This Austin midcentury modern home boasts all the right updates
- PROMOTED -
- Mayor unveils the next steps to fight Austin's music crisis

SEE ALL LATEST NEWS

 BE A CULTUREMAP INSIDER.

GET OUR EMAILS

- ☐ DAILY DIGEST
DAILY NEWS + EVENTS
- ☐ DINING REPORT
RESTAURANT + BAR NEWS
- ☐ PROMO ALERT
SPECIAL OFFERS + INVITES

SIGN UP

We will not share or sell your email address

7/11 This Austin midcentury modern home boasts all the right updates

7/8 Is this the most amazing downtown Austin condo on the market? Probably.

7/5 Casually elegant abode lurks behind the trees of this 4-acre Austin estate

6/2 Rainey Street rentals appeal to Austin young professionals who want it all

6/29 Power players under 30: We want you for this new Texas program

7/11 Here's where Austin home sales are really heating up

7/7 Californians are moving to Austin — where they live will surprise you

6/22 Where to eat in Austin now: 7 hot new restaurants for summer 2016

5/12 Where to eat right now: 7 fresh favorites for Austin's best seafood

4/15 Where to eat in Austin right now: 5 new favorites for pizza